ACC's virtual Xchange 2021 (X21) program is currently open for early registration. Xchange is a conference built to teach leaders of legal departments how to transform their departments into their most modern versions.

The opening plenary session, Leading Transformation in the Modern Law Department will feature chief legal officers delivering TED-style presentations providing ideas and inspiration that you won't want to miss.

X21 will show leaders the best choices for their departments, especially now when preparing to move beyond the pandemic, by providing opportunities to test-drive ideas and map out solutions to bring back to the larger team.

Produced in partnership with ACC's Law Department Management and Legal Operations Networks, X21 offers an array of programs designed to make new knowledge stick through hands-on learning and collaborative solutioning. At X21, legal executives including general counsel, practice leads and operations professionals, will discover best practices for their departments and hone the leadership skills to implement them.

The variety of session formats — including workshops, virtual roundtables and solutioning sessions in which peers will fill whiteboards with ideas to address common challenges — offer learning opportunities that are practical, interactive, and developed specifically for legal leaders operating in today's continuously evolving business environment.

X21 is also currently accepting submissions for speakers to present at the virtual conference.
